

Royal Coachman - The Symbol of Quality since 1977

The ultimate in the art of rod blank design.

-When a rod is assembled the distance between the edge of the female ferrule and the edge of the male spigot protruding from the blank is exactly 5 mm.

-The last spigot is solid on all models up to and including 11'6".

-The top of each blank is shorter than the other parts to get same length when the top eye is on.

- All female ferrules are reinforced to reduce the risk of damage while roll casting.
